A Note from the Director

From the Director, Chelsea Zych

In college, I fell in love with a little indie film called Camp. The narrative followed a band of misfit theater geeks devoting their summer to the dramatic arts, launching a new production every two weeks. Among the wide array of scenes and musical numbers presented (Follies, Dreamgirls, Company), one dance piece became my favorite: a crazy, frenetic number called "Turkey Lurkey Time" from Promises, Promises. This was my first exposure to the show you're about to see.

A few years later, the Broadway revival opened, featuring Sean Hayes and Kristen Chenoweth in the lead roles. I'm a fan of both performers, so I developed a renewed interest in the show, and the more I learned, the more enchanted I became. The script for Promises, Promises was adapted by Neil Simon, my favorite playwright. Burt Bacharach's score was bouncy, heartfelt, deliciously 60s. And the awards! Broadway legend Jerry Orbach had won a Tony and a Drama Desk award for the role of Chuck Baxter; the original cast recording took home a Grammy. I couldn't believe it had taken me so long to discover this little gem of musical theater. I decided it was time for two firsts: my directorial debut with DLO, and the Danville premiere of Promises, Promises.

You have to be a little crazy to take on theater as a hobby. It's hard work for no pay, and only fellow theater lovers will ever understand how two months of memorizing lines and music, pushing around set pieces, rearranging blocking, learning to dance, and doing it all at the same time could possibly be described as fun. For eight weeks, my wonderful cast and crew have done just that. It's been a labor of love, a true team effort, and the final product is a sexy, funny, challenging, and genuine piece of theater. I am so pleased to share this performance with you. Thank you for sharing in our madness, and enjoy the show.

Suzy Smalley (Orchestra Voice) Being on stage is where she loves spending her free time! Recently she was Betty in The Great American Trailer Park Musical, her favorite character ever! She just started working as an Independent Beauty Consultant for Mary Kay, so look her up if you need something!

David Techtow (Watchman, Intern, Office Doctor, Waiter) is excited about being in a musical for the first time. He has appeared in several Red Mask productions. Most recently he played the vile Bob Ewell in To Kill A Mockingbird.

Rick Welchans (J.D. Shel Drake) has been fortunate to have performed with several community theatre companies over the years including DLO, The Station Theatre and Champaign-Urbana Theatre Company. Rick is truly grateful to have been cast as Jeff Shel Drake. Bryan and Bailey are unquestionably the stars and heart of this show. Please sit back and enjoy.

Allison Willard (Sylvia) is excited to again be involved in her favorite hobby — performing for DLO. She has been involved in all three DLO shows this season, most recently, as the hysterically pregnant Pickles in The Great American Trailer Park Musical. She would like to thank her family and friends for their love and support.

The Cast & Company

Zayne McCorkle (Mr. Kirkeby) is a veteran of the theatre, and this is Zayne's first adult show with DLO after being featured in many youth shows. His favorite productions include, Harvey, Hairspray, Arabian Nights, and Alfred Hitchcock taught me Everything I Know. He is fond of movies, and hopes to pursue a career in the film industry.

Aaron Martin (Mr. Dobitch) is 23, lives in Danville and is a reborn theatre freak. Being on stage is an electric feeling. He has been in many productions, including The Lincoln/Douglas Debate, Trailer Park, and Leader of the Pack. Aaron plans on flexing his muscles next season in RENT.

Mimi Myers-Saylor (Mrs. Sheldrake) has done several theater productions, a pageant, and modeling for a clothing business, in her youth, but life happened, she never fulfilled her dream of becoming the next Elizabeth Taylor. Dreams have come and gone, but she never lost her flair for the dramatic. With some encouragement from a dear friend, Mimi decided to give theater a go again for a little fun. I'm having the time of my life!

Terra Ogle (Miss Olson) is appearing in her third DLO production. She started in the orchestra in Cabaret. Terra would like to thank her family for allowing her the time to be part of this experience and her co-workers for supporting her every day.

Jesse Pierce (Choreography) is an anti-violence educator and is fond of Royal Donut's crushed ice. He's totes excited about bringing RENT to life next season. jessepp.com
