

The Sun Will Come Out

I think it's safe to say that when I was growing up, I watched the movie version of Annie at least 300 times. I'm not quite sure what I loved most about it: the music, the costumes, or, most likely, seeing girls my age singing and dancing. The musical is very different than the movie, but I knew from a young age that one day I wanted to be a part of telling this story. The story of Annie is one that most people know well. Taking place in New York City during the Great Depression, young Annie finds herself in an orphanage, never giving up hope that one day her parents will come back for her.

We knew that if we were going to do this show, we would need an amazing cast. We had no idea that over 80 young actors would show up at auditions! We had such a tough time with so many talented people, but I think it is safe to say that we have our dream cast. One would think that having this big of a cast, all under the age of 18, would be a little chaotic at rehearsals and, at times, it is. But we consistently keep getting blown away during rehearsals by what this ensemble is bringing to the table. We hope that you come out and let us entertain you this July! You do not want to miss this show!

~ Mallory Williams, Director

2015-2016 Season— We're Seeking Directors!

DINNER THEATRE 2016

Our 2015-2016 season is underway, and we need your help! We are still seeking director proposals for our dinner theatre show and our spring show. Do you fit the bill? Do you have a vision that can take either of these great shows and bring it to life for the Danville community? Take a step into the wonderful world of community theatre and be a part of the behind the scenes preparations that will entertain the supportive audiences that DLO calls family?

SPRING 2016

If you do have an interest, please contact us and get more information about how you can submit a proposal to direct either show. Don't know the shows? Go to YouTube and look for videos of other productions to familiarize yourself with the storylines. Ask us about a perusal script that we might have available. We would love to have you involved with DLO. Contact the DLO Board of Directors at info@dlomusicaltheatre.com and get all the information you need!

WE CAN'T WAIT TO WORK WITH YOU!

COMING THIS FALL! THE GREATEST LOVE STORY OF THE CENTURY! AN EPIC TALE LOVED BY ALL! BE PART OF THE MAGIC! AUDITION!!!

Calling all fairytale creatures! We need the best, the brightest, most special actors who are willing to take on one of the biggest and funnest shows of DLO's history!

AUDITIONS

- August 1-3. Make plans to attend the session for your desired part.
AUGUST 1 at 1:00 pm - under 14 (young Fiona, young Shrek, baby bear)
AUGUST 1 at 3:00 pm - Teen-aged Tap-Dancing Rats
AUGUST 2 at 2:00 pm - All other characters (including teen Fiona)
AUGUST 3 at 6:00 pm - All other characters (including teen Fiona)
— CALLBACKS TUESDAY EVENING IF NECESSARY —

What do you need to do to prepare?

Be prepared to sing, dance and perform cold readings from the script, except those wanting to just be tap dancing rats. Tap dancing rats do not need to prepare a song, just bring tap shoes if possible.

For more information about auditions and character requirements, please go to our website and find out all the details. Any specific questions may be addressed to our director, Jen Kirby, at dloshrekdirector@gmail.com.
